Army Religious Accommodations

Army Regulation 600-20, Army Command Policy, states “The Army places a high value on the rights of its Soldiers to observe tenets of their respective religions or to observe no religion at all; while protecting the civil liberties of its personnel to the greatest extent possible, consistent with its military requirements.”

Soldiers’ requests for religious accommodations are generally in these five categories:

- worship practices;
- dietary practices;
- medical care (including immunizations);
- wear and appearance of the uniform; and
- personal appearance and grooming practices

To initiate a request for religious accommodation, a Soldier will notify their immediate commander, orally or in writing, citing their religious beliefs and specific accommodation request(s). The commander will consult with the senior chaplain for guidance.

Accommodation request processing times may vary depending on the nature of the request, the Soldier’s component, and the location of the Soldier (CONUS/OCONUS).
